The Policy of the President in Reconstruction. [Now that the war is over, the work of reconstruction is the most important that engages the attention of the Federal Government. As the annexed Proclamation of President Johnson, in regard to this subject in Mississippi, doubtless embraces the same policy, that will be adopted in all the other Southern States, we deem it of sufficient interest to our readers to publish the document entire.—Ed.]

A PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES. WHEREAS, The 4th section of the 4th article of the Constitution of the United States shall guarantee to every State in the Union a republican form of Government, and shall protect each of them against invasion or domestic violence; and WHEREAS, The President of the United States is by the Constitution made Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy as well as chief civil and Executive officer of the United States, and is bound by a solemn oath faithfully to execute the office of the President of the United States and to take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and

WHEREAS, The rebellion which has been urged by a portion of the people of the United States against the properly constituted authorities of the Government thereof, in the most violent and revolting form, and whose organized and armed forces have now been almost entirely overcome, has in its revolutionary progress deprived the people of the State of Mississippi of civil Government; and

WHEREAS, It becomes necessary and proper to carry out and enforce the obligations of the United States to the people of Mississippi in securing them in the enjoyment of a republican form of Government; Now, therefore, in obedience to the high and solemn duty imposed upon me by the Constitution of the United States, and for the purpose of enabling the loyal people of said State to organize a State Government, whereby justice may be established, domestic tranquility restored, and loyal citizens protected in all their rights of life, liberty and property, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy of the United States, do hereby appoint W. L. Sharkey, of Mississippi, Provisional Governor of the State of Mississippi, whose duty it shall be at the earliest practicable period to prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for convening a Convention composed of delegates to be chosen by that portion of the people of said State who are loyal to the United States, and no others, for the purpose of altering and amending the Constitution thereof, and with authority to exercise, within the limits of said State, all the power necessary and proper to enable such loyal people of the State of Mississippi to restore said State to its Constitutional relations to the Federal Government and to present such a Republican form of State Government as will entitle the State to the guarantee of the United States, and its people to protection by the United States against invasion and domestic violence. Provided, that in any election that may be held hereafter for choosing delegates to any State Convention as aforesaid, no person shall be qualified as an elector, or shall be eligible as a member of such Convention, unless he shall have previously taken and subscribed the oath of amnesty as set forth in the President's proclamation of May 29, 1865, and is a voter qualified as prescribed by the Constitution and laws of the State of Mississippi in force before the 9th day of January, A. D. 1861, the date of the so-called ordinance of secession, and the said Convention when convened, or the Legislature that may be thereafter assembled, will prescribe the qualification of electors and the eligibility of persons to hold office under the Constitution and laws of the State, a power the people of the several States comprising the Federal Union have rightfully exercised from the origin of the Government to the present time, and I do hereby direct,

First. That the military commander of the department and all officers and persons in the military and naval service shall aid and assist the said Provisional Government in carrying into effect this proclamation, and they are enjoined to abstain from in any way hindering, impeding or discouraging loyal people from the organization of a State government as herein authorized.

Second. That the Secretary of State proceed to put in force all laws of the United States, the administration whereof belongs to the State Department, applicable to the geographical limits aforesaid.

Third. That the Secretary of the Treasury proceed to nominate for appointment Assessors of taxes and Collectors of customs and internal revenue and such officers of that Department as are authorized by law, and put in execution the revenue laws of the United States within the limits aforesaid, in making appointments the preference shall be given to qualified loyal persons residing within the districts where their respective duties are to be performed, but if suitable residents of districts shall not be found, then persons residing in other States or districts shall be nominated.

Fourth. That the Postmaster General establish post-offices and post routes, and put into execution the postal laws of the United States, within said State, giving to loyal residents the preference of appointment; but, if suitable residents are not found, then to appoint agents, &c., from other States.

Fifth. That the District Judges for the Judicial District in which Mississippi is included, proceed to hold Courts within said State, in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress, and the Attorney General will instruct the proper officers to libel and bring to judgment, confiscation and sale, property subject to confiscation, and enforce the administration of justice within said State in all matters within the cognizance and jurisdiction of the Federal Courts.

Sixth. That the Secretary of the Navy take possession of all public property belonging to the Navy Department within said limits, and put into operation all the acts of Congress in relation to naval affairs having application to said State.

longing to the Navy Department within said limits, and put into operation all the acts of Congress in relation to naval affairs having application to said State. Seventh. That the Secretary of the Interior Department put in force the laws relating to that department, applicable to the geographical limits aforesaid. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this 13th day of June, A. D. 1865, and of the Independence of the United States the 89th. (Signed,) ANDREW JOHNSON. By the President: WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

AN AFFECTING INCIDENT. From the Ohio Statesman. Some three years ago, a young man, Gershom Rose, residing at Claypoole's Mills, near Zanesville, in Muskingum County, enlisted in company B, 78th O. V. I. He left a most affectionate and devoted mother, of whom he was both the darling and the pride. For a long time past, she had not heard a word from him, as he was with Sherman's army, in its grand sweeping campaign through the South. She had almost given up her darling boy as lost. But unexpectedly, about ten days ago, a letter came from him, saying that a detachment of men from the 78th would start in a few days for Columbus, and he should come home with them.

The fond mother could hardly believe her eyes when she saw and read the letter. The news was too good to be true. It formed the subject of her thoughts by day and night. At length, on Saturday morning last, as she was out in the yard of her dwelling, attending to some household work, a neighbor called and stated that the expected detachment of the 78th had arrived at Tom Barracks, and that her son was among the men. The full realization of the actual truth that her long-lost boy was so near home, was too much for the mother's physical frame. She fainted and fell. That loving heart throbbled violently a few moments, and then was lost forever.

Saturday evening a friend of the family arrived at the Barracks and announced to the young soldier the sad news of his mother's death. That night he left for home to attend his mother's funeral yesterday. We have often heard of death from excess of joy at some sudden news; but, in this case, the mother was partially prepared for the good tidings. Yet when there could be no longer room to doubt that her beloved son was really coming home it was more than her physical frame could endure.

It yielded to the higher emotional or spiritual nature. Oh! who can measure the depth and intensity of a mother's love? QUANTRELL DEAD.—The notorious guerrilla "Quantrell," calling himself William Clark, Capt. 4th Missouri cavalry, died in the Military Prison Hospital in this city yesterday evening at four o'clock. He was captured near Taylorsville, Ky., the 10th of last month, after being shot through the body. Magruder, who has been lying in the same hospital for several months, similarly wounded, is very low, and no hopes are entertained of his recovery.—[Louisville Press.]

TAKING UP INDIFFERENT HUSBANDS.—A little man, asking how it happened that many beautiful ladies took up with but indifferent husbands, after many fine offers, was thusly answered by a mountain maiden: A young friend of hers, during a walk, requested her to go into a delightful came-brake, and there get him the hand-some red; she must get it in once going through, without turning. She went, and coming out, brought him quite a mean reed. When he asked if that was the handsomest one she saw, "Oh no," replied she, "I saw many finer as I went along, but I kept on in hopes of a much better, until I had gotten nearly through, and then was obliged to select the best that was left."

A YEAR'S TROUBLES.—Sometimes I compare the troubles we have to undergo in the course of a year to a great bundle of fagots, far too large for us to lift. But God does not require us to carry the whole bundle at once. He mercifully unties the bundles, and gives us first one stick, which we are able to carry to-day, and then another which we are able to carry to-morrow, and so on. This we might easily manage, if we would only take the burden appointed for us each day; but we choose to increase our trouble by carrying yesterday's stick over again to-day, and adding to-morrow's burden to our load before we are required to bear it.—[John Newton.]

Mr. BAUER, with a number of hands, is now engaged in grading and putting in good order First street for a distance of two blocks, between Howard and Boone streets. A good improvement.

The Paris Mercury has learned that a squad of militia from Macon recently arrested Daniel Barton, of Shelby county, and while conveying him to Macon next day shot him. He was charged with being concerned in bushwhacking affairs, which, as it turns out, occurred while he was a military prisoner at Chicago, where he has been for a long time.
